

Personal Biographical Sketch

J. Darron Kroll

Darron was born in Salt Lake City, and has spent most of his life in Utah. He grew up playing many different sports, but also enjoyed spending time in the outdoors and as a boy scout was able to receive his Eagle Scout Award. Darron was also able to support himself through college by working summers as a river guide in Moab, Utah.

Darron received his undergraduate degree in Business from Brigham Young University in 1991. He completed his masters degree in Mental Health Counseling from the University of Phoenix in 2014. He is married to his wife Carla and has three sons and one daughter.

Darron has worked for Occupational Health Care International, (OHCI) for more than 25 years. He was placed over the Southern Utah Territory in 2014 as a manager and director of sales for OHCI. He has helped many companies work towards a drug and alcohol free work environment along with ensuring that they are in compliance with State and Federal laws. He also works as a substance abuse and mental health counselor at Southwest Behavioral Health Center. One of his goals in life is to better educate individuals, families and businesses of the problems of drug abuse in society and more specifically within the workplace.
